

Travel Writer - Craft Blogger

With degrees in English Literature and Social Anthropology and having established herself as a respected craft blogger before expanding her range into her passion for travel, Albion specializes in writing about the culture and crafts that make a region unique and redefining the meaning of adventure travel for a wider audience. She has worked as a brand ambassador and representative, has spoken and taught at conferences and events, and has had her work featured in national ad campaigns. Albion enjoys day hikes, amusement parks, hurtling down ziplines, and finding her next destination.

<https://AlbionGould.com>

Featured Brand Collaborations

Audience

- 18-25 year old women looking for a safe entry point for adventure travel and something off the beaten track.
- 25-45 year old female travellers with a high disposable income.
- 25-45 year old affluent female travellers who want to get the most out of their travel experiences and experience adventure travel for the first time.
- 18-45 year old culture enthusiasts who are deeply interested in the unique crafts, crafting history, local foods, and sustainability initiatives of the places they visit.

United States * United Kingdom * Canada * Australia

35K+

Social Media Followers

DA 45

117K+

Unique Monthly Visitors

4K

Newsletter Subscribers